International Ambassador

1.1 Roles & Responsibilities:

The role of the International Ambassador (referred to as International Commissioner by WOSM - World Organisation of the Scout Movement) is defined by WOSM as “the Scout responsible for relations with WOSM and with Scout Organisations in other countries.” The role is predominantly one of representation within a WOSM context, of ensuring that the views of Scouting Ireland are put forward while also bringing items from WOSM for consideration within the development of Scouting Ireland and across other Scouting Organisations. This role is one of an ambassador and requires significant cooperation between it and all other areas/structures within Scouting Ireland. This role requires a significant time commitment and would be a member of the Information and Communication Department Core Team. The ICD will develop project team to ensure the department performs the functions of the role efficiently and to a consistently high standard.

Key areas of responsibility:

The responsibilities of the Scouting Ireland International Ambassador can be divided into the following categories:

- Enabling quality international Scouting experiences
- Maximise the benefits of WOSM membership to Scouting Ireland
